Subject: RE: UW Brazos Valley Farm, LLC - Aggregation of Production Permits

Dear Mr. Day:

As per our conversation and for clarification:

The Special Provisions/Notes for the UW Brazos Valley Farm, LLC permits granted on April 17, 2019 by the Brazos Valley Groundwater Conservation District for BV-DO-0254 (Well CS1), BV-DO-0255 (Well CS2), and BV-DO-0256 (Well CS3) all state that the pumping granted under each production permit may all be aggregated together amongst the three wells. As a note, these permits granted in 2019 are referenced as the "2019 Permits". Similarly, it is UW Brazos Valley Farm's request that the 13 proposed new wells and the accompanying requested annual production permit allocation of 34,516 acre-feet also be aggregated. Likewise, UW Brazos Valley Farm wishes to make it clear that it desires in the current permit application that the 2019 Permits and newly requested production permit pumping all be aggregated together for a total aggregated system of 16 wells and total production permit pumping allocation of 49,999 acre-feet per year.
